Pegasus Bridge is to Brits what Omaha Beach is to Americans. I took my then-10-year-old son to see Normandy about 20 years ago and stopped at the bridge at Benouville. There, sitting outside the Café Gondree, was an elderly gentleman in a red beret explaining what happened in 1944 to a not-so-interested couple of young tourists.

Operation Deadstick, conducted by Major John Howard and his company of Oxford and Buckinghamshire Light Infantry, was a superbly daring, brilliantly executed 'coup de main' assault. The glider-borne troops not only seized both bridges but faced a ferocious and prolonged German counterattack. Neil Barber, a military historian and expert in British airborne operations, uses extensive personal accounts to tell this incredible story of Allied victory. Covering events and operations from Ranville in the East to Benouville in the West, Pegasus and Orne Bridges chronicles the combat of the 7th, 12th and 13th Parachute Battalions and
